

Pre-class Questions: Section 3.7

1. Optimization is about maximizing and minimizing given some constraints. Can you think of any real world examples of this process?
2. Optimization is often used in studying economics. Can you think of an problem that an economist might want to optimize?
3. What questions do you still have about optimization?